

DEMONSTRATES SPRING STYLES

P. L. Hogan of Local Shoe Factory Shows Samples at St. Louis.

P. L. Hogan, superintendent of the local Hamilton-Brown Shoe Factory, went to St. Louis yesterday to demonstrate the new Columbia line of spring samples to the sales force and executive committee of the shoe company. One hundred and sixty salesmen will see the demonstration at the main offices in St. Louis.

Another demonstration will be held next Monday, after which A. C. Brown, president of the company, will probably accompany Mr. Hogan to Columbia to take up with the Commercial Club the matter of a new factory.

SOUVENIRS OF WAR SHOWN HERE

L. A. Serkes Has Dummy Draped With Clothing From Battlefields.

Those interested in trophies and souvenirs from the battlefields of Europe may feast their eyes on a collection now being shown in the window of L. A. Serkes on South Ninth street.

A tailoring company in Chicago has sent Mr. Serkes souvenirs from a $100,000 collection of all sorts of things picked up on the battlefields of France. A bullet-torn coat, a battered helmet, bloody trousers, a broken sword, a canteen, cartridge box and the rest of a soldier's fighting equipment have been draped on a dummy in Serkes' window.

When you have seen this unique display in our north window, step inside and inspect that admirable

PRUDENCE OF THE PARSONAGE

A Novel by Ethel Hueston

Prudence of the Parsonage is a story as fresh and sweet as cherry blossoms with dew on them. —James Whitcomb Riley

Little Women bids fair to have a rival in Ethel Hueston's novel, brimming with the fun and frolic of healthy, hearty girlhood. A delicate wild rose love story tempers with madcap merriment. —Review of Reviews

There are five children, all girls, to bring up; and Prudence, the oldest, does the mothering. The exploits and adventures keep one on the jump; the tale bubbles over with the humor of a typical American family, and a pretty love story is the climax. —Sunday School Times
